

Disclosure to Directory Information

Oglala Lakota College may release the following public or directory information without your written consent: name, address, telephone number, date of attendance, registration status, class, major field of study, degree conferred, and most recent educational institution attended. If you're currently enrolled and want the above information withheld from disclosure, you must make a written request before the beginning of the third week classes begin each semester – yes each semester. Please note that such a notification will prevent OLC from providing your directory information to your friends, prospective employers, organizations (Higher Ed, Social Services, etc.) and others whom you may wish us to share such information, so make your decision carefully.

I, _____, a student of Oglala Lakota College for the _____ semester, am withholding all directory information to all third party inquiries without my written consent.
